Cong crossed all limits by bringing monkeys into Parliament: Giriraj Singh

New Delhi, Union Minister Giriraj Singh on Thursday hit out at the Opposition for bringing monkeys into Parliament and said they have crossed all limits.

His remarks came after several Opposition members, including Congress MPs Pawan Khera, Imran Pratapgarhi, and Jebi Mather, participated in a demonstration while raising slogans against the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)-led Centre. Khera led the protest holding a soft monkey toy.

Speaking to reporters, Giriraj Singh said, "I said this in the morning and I am saying it again: because of one arrogant and obstinate leader, the entire month has been turned into a joke. They (opposition) are bringing monkeys into Parliament. Is this a team of monkeys? Are they entertainers? The Congress should be ashamed of itself for stooping so low. No MP can be an entertainer, but they have crossed all limits by bringing monkeys into Parliament. They do not want Parliament to function."

The Union Minister also added, "I said this in the morning, and I am saying it again: because of the arrogance and obstinacy of one person, and because of his misconceptions and delusions, hundreds of crores of rupees of public money have been wasted. The government has been saying for days that it is ready for a discussion. Home Minister Amit (Shah) has also said so.

Ahmedabad, In a significant milestone, successfully performed its first kidney swap transplant, offering new hope to patients with end-stage renal disease whose willing family donors were medically incompatible. What makes this achievement especially inspiring is the powerful human story behind the medical milestone. This extraordinary exchange went beyond the boundaries of medicine, becoming a powerful example of compassion, trust, communal harmony and the shared human desire to save a life.
