VISHNU SAHASRANAMA

Traditionally our prayers end with a phala sruti - a section on the benefits of reciting the prayer. The Vishnu Sahasranama Stotram is no exception. The necessity of cleansing our body regularly to maintain our physical hygiene and good health is recognized by every one. But perhaps because we do not "see" our mind the same way as we see our body (i.e., as an externally visible entity), the necessity of keeping our minds clean is not as clearly recognized. However, those who do not "cleanse" their mind on a regular basis become "mentally" sick over a period of time, just as they become physically sick if they do not cleanse their body on a regular basis. Prayers are a means to mental cleansing when they are chanted with sincerity and devotion. This aspect of the usefulness of prayers in everyone's life is common to all prayers. The importance of Sri Vishnu Sahasranama Stotram is that the deity being worshiped is none other than Vasudeva (sri maha vishnuh paramatma sriman narayano devata; saktir devaki nandanah; itidam kirtaniyasya kesavasya mahatmanah namnam sahasram divyanam aseshena prakirtitam; sahasram vasudevasya namnam etat prakirtayet, etc.). Sri Vyasa points out that it is by the power and command of Vasudeva that the sun, the moon, the stars, the world, and the oceans are controlled (sa chandrarka nakshatra kham diso bhur mahodadhih vasudevasya viryena vidhartani mahatmanah). The whole universe of the Gods, Asuras, Gandharvas, etc., is under the sway of Lord Krishna (sasurasura gandharvam). In Bhishma's expert judgment, chanting Vasudeva's name with devotion and sincerity will ensure relief from sorrows and bondage. This in a nutshell is the phala sruti or the benefit of chanting Sri Vishnu Sahasranamama.

Some have held the view that the phala sruti need not be, or even should not be chanted, because they somehow feel that it smacks of selfish desires. This is not consistent with the age-old practices of our ancestors. It is true that the phala sruti says that anything that is desired can be obtained if the prayer is sincere and offered with devotion. However, it is up to those who seek benefits through prayers that they should seek things that elevate them in life rather than lower them. An example of the latter type is the case of the evil king Ravana, who had prayed and obtained enormous powers through his prayers to Lord Siva. In the end, he lost all he had including himself by the misuse of his powers.

The phala sruti in Sri Vishnu Sahasranama Stotram was not just an add-on by someone trying to popularize the Stotram, but is an integral part of the Mahabharata text. Both Sri Sankara and Sri Parasara Bhatta have written commentaries to the phala sruti slokas. Thus, what is stated in the phala sruti has its authority from those who are worthy of great respect from us, and who have found it fit to comment and elaborate on the advice and information given to us through the phala sruti.

Perhaps the most important of the benefits attained by one who chants the Stotram with devotion and sincerity is the cleansing of one's mind from all evil thoughts, and this is a very important and desirable benefit since this is the first step towards achieving pure happiness and absolute bliss. Firmness of mind, good memory, happiness of the self (inner happiness), and freedom from anger, jealousy, and greed, are some of the benefits that accrue to one who recites the stotram with devotion and eagerness. The key is the sincerity of purpose and devotion. The person who chants or recites is not the only one who benefits. Those who for whatever reason are unable to chant, benefit by just hearing the chanting (ya idam srunuyan nityam ...

Sunsar Waterfall, Gujarat's Mini Kashmir

Aravalli (Modasa) Whenever Kashmir is remembered, the Sunsar village, which is very popular in North Gujarat and is located in the east of Bhiloda taluka, near the hometown of poet Umashankar Joshi, and which is famous as Mini Kashmir, also comes to mind. The beautiful and mesmerizing river flowing from the hill of this Sunsar village is popularly known as Sunsar Waterfall.

Bhiloda taluka has received 6 inches of rain in the last 24 hours. Due to this heavy rain, the famous Sunsar waterfall in Sunsar village has come alive for the first time in the season. How can one go to this waterfall, which falls from a height of 250 feet in the Aravalli hills? Find out in today's report.

This is how you can reach Sunsar Waterfall. This waterfall is located near the temple of Dharti Mata in Sunsar village, 12 kilometers west of Bhiloda. To enjoy the delightful view of Sunsar Waterfall, you can reach there by ST bus and private vehicle from Bhiloda. Or if you want to go from Ahmedabad, you can also go to Sunsar via Ahmedabad via Himmatnagar and enjoy the natural view of Sunsar Waterfall, which is nestled in the lap of nature.

A spring flows from the rocks in the form of a waterfall

During the monsoon season, due to rain, a natural sight is seen on the hills. A delightful waterfall falls from a height of more than 250 feet from the Aravalli hills in Sunsar village of Bhiloda taluka of Aravalli district. Due to this waterfall and the surrounding greenery, this area is famous as the Mini Kashmir of North Gujarat. This waterfall has mythological and religious importance. In the four months of every monsoon, a spring flows from these rocks in the form of a waterfall.

This place is very famous in mythological and religious terms. In the month of Shravan, the surrounding earth gods come to the banks of this waterfall to change their wives. The earth gods bathe in this waterfall and perform Yagnopavit along with chanting Vedic mantras. This is a tribal area, so there is a mythological belief that whenever there is any auspicious occasion of the tribal community, they come here to the waterfall to take the blessings of Mother Earth and start their auspicious occasion. Thus, this place is very famous in mythological and religious terms and a huge crowd of people gathers.

A mini Kashmir-like view in the Aravalli hills. Nature blooms in this area every monsoon. Tourists from Aravalli, Sabarkantha and all over Gujarat flock to this place to watch the natural waterfalls that appear during the monsoon and to bathe in the waterfalls. They enjoy the abundant waterfalls in a very natural environment. In today's modern era, young people and tourists do not miss taking selfies in such natural waterfalls through mobile phones. Thus, a mini Kashmir-like view has been created in the Aravalli hills.

Demand to develop it as a tourist spot. Due to the Corona epidemic, Sunsar Gram Panchayat has banned visiting this place. An order for punitive action has also been issued. Despite this, people are coming in large numbers to enjoy this natural beauty. Tourists have demanded to develop this place as a tourist spot.

International Day against Drug Abuse

Vinod Chandrashekhar Dixit

26th June was observed as the International Day against Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking (International Day against Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking), often referred to as the International Day against Drug Abuse. It is to strengthen global action and cooperation to achieve the goal of an international society free of drug abuse. Observance of this day aims to raise awareness to fight against the substance abuse as well as the unlawful trade of drugs. Drugs are initially taken out of choice, but it becomes hard to resist them sooner than you realize. It is difficult to recover from this problem and even those who are at high risk of developing it again.

It is a fact that drug racket operates internationally, but some countries are transshipment points for drug circulation. India possibly because of its strategic location is more prone to drug activities including drug trafficking and local consumption. The influence of westernization, changing family structure and peer pressure are some of the reasons behind drug abuse.

Our society should change its attitude. He should be provided with all the support and care. He should be properly rehabilitated. Moral education should be made a part of our curriculum. Society should be made aware from the early stage. In order to tame and trample the monster of drug abuse, we must go back to the root of the problem and make the user of drugs more human, tolerant, understanding, appreciative, sympathetic and helpful. Social workers, teachers, and above all parents, especially mothers can play a vital role in this direction. Many counselling and de-addiction centres have contributed greatly to create a national awakening. More such efforts are required from all walks of society.

Drugs are primarily chemicals that affect the communication system of the human brain. They disturb the ways in which nerve cells send, process and receive information. There are a couple of ways in which drugs achieve this - they copy the natural chemical messengers of the human brain and they overstimulate the brain's reward circuit. Drugs such as heroin and marijuana are structured in the same way as chemical messengers known as neurotransmitters. The Drug addiction can develop at any age but those who begin taking drugs at an early age have the highest risk of getting addicted. This is because the areas of the brain that are responsible for self-control, judgment and decision making are still in development stage. This is the reason why teenagers are more prone to drug abuse. Governments have a responsibility to counteract both drug trafficking and drug abuse, but communities can also make a major contribution. Families, schools, civil society and religious organizations can do their part to rid their communities of drugs.

According to National Survey, hardly a third of drug dependents reported having taken treatment. In the findings of other agency it was found as low as two per cent. It is largely because people do not see drug abuse as a medical problem. Besides, lack of rehabilitation and access to treatment facilities are various other causes for not seeking treatment. The disintegration of the old joint family system, absence of parental love and care in modern families where both parents are working, decline of old religious and moral values etc lead to a rise in the number of drug addicts who take drugs to escape hard realities of life. Drug trafficking is one of the major crime. Killing someone or helping someone to kill himself is equal to a crime. This is what common sense and human sense says. The ones who are trafficking and helping such drugs reach each and every corner of the country are committing a big crime. Drugs and drug dealing is a scourge that can bring down a mature and intelligent society to intolerable levels of depravity. It is better to nip this crime in bud so that our country doesn't follow the horrible western malady. Creating awareness of dangers of the substance abuse in society and effecting behavioural change are integral parts of the National Drug Master Plan. There should be no leniency when talking about peddlers and pushers who destroy the victim and his kith and kin and put the victim into unalterable habit which will make the individual take to all crimes including murder and rape. If we need to stop this menace from spreading we need harsh steps and stringent punishments. Only love and affection can help the youth from falling into clutches of drugs. Societal control is a necessary along with legal skeleton. Let us develop our Lives, our Communities, and our Identities...Without Drugs."(B-15 Jyoti-Kalash Society, Jodhpur Tekra, Satellite, Ahmedabad - 380 015)

Short circuit in power cable causes explosion in Sanand

Sanand, The incident of sparking in electric wires in Modasar village of Sanand has created an atmosphere of fear among the villagers. In this village, adopted by Union Home Minister Amit Shah, there was continuous sparking as electric wires collided with each other. According to the details of the sparking incident in power lines in Modasar, Sanand, sparks of fire came out of the wires installed on the electricity pole in Modasar village when they came close to each other. The entire incident was captured on a mobile phone and the video is going viral on social media.

Pakistan found itself caught in a high-stakes diplomatic tango as US President Donald Trump shocked the world by announcing a cease-fire agreement between Israel and Iran. Tel Aviv and Tehran agreed to a cease-fire proposal announced by Trump to end their 12-day war that roiled the Middle East.

This unexpected move came mere days after Pakistan had publicly condemned Trump's airstrikes on Iran—an ironic twist, considering Islamabad had just nominated him for the 2026 Nobel Peace Prize for mediating a separate crisis with India. It's a performance as bold as it is inconsistent. Pakistan's about-face is diplomatic inconsistency at its worst.

Pakistan praised Trump's "decisive diplomatic intervention" in defusing the India-Pakistan crisis, in an effusive message Saturday night on the X platform when it announced its formal recommendation for him to receive the Nobel Peace Prize. By Sunday, as U.S. bombs fell on Iran's Fordow, Natanz, and Isfahan nuclear facilities, Islamabad condemned the U.S. for attacking Iran, saying the strikes "constituted a serious violation of international law". This is a diplomatic identity crisis, not merely a shift in tone. It damages Pakistan's reputation when a leader is praised one day and his actions are denounced the next, making both allies and enemies doubt the country's moral character.

Trump's strikes—and now his ceasefire—have put Pakistan in a precarious position and Pakistan's response to the Iran crisis suggests a calibrated approach. Iran is Pakistan's brotherly neighbour.

Yet, after years of frosty relations with the U.S., Islamabad sees a golden opportunity under Trump's administration to secure economic lifelines, like trade deals or cryptocurrency partnerships, and bolster its geopolitical clout. This duality risks alienating both sides and eroding Pakistan's moral authority. This inconsistency doesn't inspire trust.

The condemnation of U.S. strikes was swift but measured, emphasising diplomacy over military escalation. Pakistan's Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif spoke with Iran's president, showing unity but not promising military help. Pakistan has learned from the past. During the Cold War, distant allies like the U.S. weren't always reliable, but neighbours like Iran will always be there. Keeping them happy matters.
